1.0 Introduction

1.1 In the present scenario of competitive banking, excellence in customer service is the most important tool for sustained business growth. Customer complaints are part of the business life of any corporate entity. This is more so for banks because banks are service organizations. As a service organization, customer service and customer satisfaction should be the prime concern of any bank. We believe that providing prompt and efficient service is essential not only to attract new customers, but also to retain existing ones. Our bank has come up with a lot of initiatives that are oriented to providing a better customer service and a better complaints redressal mechanism and one such initiative is framing of this policy.

2.0 Objectives

2.1 This Grievance Redressal Policy is applicable to Bank of Ceylon, Chennai. It has been formulated with the following objectives.

2.1.1 Customers are treated fairly at all times

2.1.2 Complaints raised by customers are dealt with courtesy and on time

2.1.3 Customers are fully informed of avenues to escalate their complaints / grievances within the organization and their rights to alternative remedy, if they are not fully satisfied with the response of the Bank to their complaints.

2.1.4 All complaints are dealt efficiently and fairly.

2.2 This policy document aims at minimizing instances of customer complaints and grievances through proper service delivery and review mechanism and to ensure prompt redressal of customer complaints and grievances. The review mechanism will help in identifying shortcomings in product features and service delivery.

3.0 Customer Complaints or Grievances

3.1 The customer complaint arises due to;

3.1.1 The attitudinal aspects in dealing with customers.

3.1.2 Inadequacy of the functions / arrangements made available to the customers or gaps in standards of services expected and actual services rendered.

3.1.3 Improper understanding by customers about the products, services, Bank's rules and regulations etc.

3.2 The customer has every right to register his / her complaint if he/she is not satisfied with the services provided by the Bank. He / She can give his / her complaint in writing, orally or over telephone. If customer's complaint is not resolved within given time or if he/she is not satisfied with the solution provided by the Bank, he / she can approach Banking Ombudsman with his/her complaint.

4.0 Internal Machinery to Handle Customer Complaints / Grievances

4.1 In order to make Bank's redressal mechanism more meaningful and effective, a structured system has been built. This system would ensure that the redressal sought is just and fair and is permissible within the given frame-work of rules and regulation. All employees are aware about the complaint handling process.

4.2 Complaints/suggestions box has been provided at the bank. Further, a notice requesting the customers to meet the Country Manager / Deputy Manager has also been displayed at the Bank regarding grievances, if the grievances are not redressed.

4.3 A complaint book, as designed by IBA, with perforated copies in each set has been introduced so that acknowledgement to the customers will be provided instantaneously.

4.4 Besides, a separate complaints register in the prescribed format is maintained for entering all the complaints/ grievances received by the Bank directly or through RBI Integrated Banking Ombudsman. The register will be maintained irrespective of the fact whether a complaint is received or not in the past. The complaints registers maintained by the branch will be scrutinized by the Country Manager at periodical intervals.

4.5 The first point for redressal of complaints is the Bank itself and that complainants may approach the Banking Ombudsman only if the complaint is not resolved at the bank level within a month. This information has been displayed in the notice boards of the Bank.

6.0 Branch Level Customer Service Committees

The Branch Level Customer Service Committee will be chaired by the Deputy Manager of the Branch. The members comprise of Heads of Department of Operations, Credit and Trade Finance. 10.2 The Head of the Department is responsible for the resolution of complaints/ grievances in respect of customer's service by the department/ unit, subject to the compliance of internal policy guide lines. He would be responsible for ensuring closure of all complaints received at his department / unit. It is his foremost duty to see that the complaint should be resolved completely to the customer's satisfaction subject to adherence to the Bank's internal policy guidelines. If the customer is not satisfied, then he should be provided with alternate avenues to escalate the issue. If the Head of the Department feels that it is not possible at his level to solve the problem, he can refer the case to Deputy Manager (Nodal Officer) for guidance. Similarly, if the Deputy Manager finds that he is not able to solve the problem such cases may be referred to the Standing Committee on Customer Service.

11.0 Time Frame

11.1 To register complaints, customer can use any of the channels mentioned above (refer point 4 on Internal Machinery to handle customer complaints). If the complaint has been received in writing, the Bank will endeavor to send an acknowledgement/ response within a week. After the matter is examined a final response will be sent to the customer or information that more time is required and the Bank will endeavor to do so within 30 days of receipt of complaint.

11.2 In case the customer is not satisfied with the response received, then he/she can write to the Deputy Manager (Nodal Officer) or the Country Manager.

12.0 Interaction with Customers

11.1 The Bank recognizes that customer's expectation/ requirement/ grievances can be better appreciated through personal interaction with customers by Bank's staff. Structured customer meets, say once in a month will give a message to the customers that the Bank cares for them and values their feedback/suggestions for improvement in customer service. Many of the complaints arise on account of lack of awareness among customers about Bank services and such interactions will help the customers appreciate Banking services better. As for the Bank the feedback from customers would be valuable input for revising its product and services to meet customer requirements.

13.0 Sensitizing Operating Staff on Handling Complaints

All the members of staff of the Bank are educated on the Complaints Redressal Mechanism. We are dealing with people and hence difference of opinion and areas of friction can arise. With an open mind and a smile on the face we would be able to win the customer's confidence. It would be the responsibility of the Nodal Officer to ensure that internal machinery for handling complaints/grievances operates smoothly and efficiently at all levels. He would give feedback on training needs of staff at various levels to the Country Manager.

14.0 Review of the Policy

The Policy will be reviewed by Chennai Branch on an annual basis in tune with the regulatory guidelines issued from time to time or internal requirements or as and when considered necessary.
